Human Resource Commission
800 Game Farm Road, Yorkville, IL 60560

The Human Resource Commission of the United City of Yorkville has been asked to spearhead a Historical Street Naming process for the City. Due to growth within the City, many new roads will need to be named. We believe that there are many people in our community who could be honored by the City naming a street in their honor.

The Human Resource Commission is accepting names of deserving citizens, living or deceased for this honor. The following is a list of guidelines for names submitted to the Commission:

1. Streets should be named after a citizen or family, whether living or deceased; important event; historical location or company.
2. If living, the person being recognized should be consulted. If deceased, the family should be consulted.
3. In order to be considered, an individual should have lived in the city or have made a major historical contribution to the community. Major contribution is defined as a significant contribution to the community, which has enriched or improved the community and the people living in the community.
4. This individual(s) general reputation shall have been above reproach.
5. This major contribution could be accomplished through financial means, community service, active work, or leadership in the community.
6. In order to be considered, an individual must have completed the contribution for which he/she is being recognized.
7. Any citizen of the United City of Yorkville or from outside the community can nominate an individual(s) name as a historical street name.
8. Compilation of the list of names will be ongoing, new names will be added to the recommended list at least annually.
9. All nominations will be reviewed by the Human Resource Commission, which will make a recommendation to the City Council.
10. All recommended historical street names will be reviewed by the City Engineer, KenCom, and the U.S. Post Office to avoid duplications.
11. Developers must use a minimum of ten percent with a minimum one name from the recommended list unless determined otherwise by the City Council.
12. Priorities may change based on recommendations from the Human Resource Commission.
13. Decisions regarding historical street names will be made by the Yorkville City Council; and, its decisions will be considered final.
